

With Your Help we're not backing down

The Israeli government knows that the single most effective way to bring people into our justice movement is simply to have them see with their own eyes and connect with their hearts.

This year five of our delegates, all identified as Muslim (though one was not), were denied entry to Israel. Other delegates of color were interrogated but ultimately allowed to enter.

Although only 1% of IFPB delegates have been denied entry since 2002, we know it's always a possibility. While Muslim and Arab delegates have faced greater harassment, white and Jewish delegates have continued to enter with little difficulty. We find such blatant racism unacceptable.

We won't back down! With your help, we will continue to send safe, content-rich and politically accountable trips that inspire activists and leaders from all backgrounds.
